The Court has supplemental jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a) over Plaintiffs state and local law claims because they are so related to claims within the Court's original jurisdiction that they form part of the same case or controversy. B. Claims and Defenses

The Plaintiff will pursue at trial relief for fair housing violations as follows:

1 1. What amount of economic or general damages is plaintiff entitled to by virtue of
2 Defendants' violation of the Fair Housing Act, Washington Law Against Discrimination, and
3 Seattle Municipal Code?

4 2. What amount of punitive damages is plaintiff entitled to by virtue of Defendants'
5 violation of the Fair Housing Act?

6 3. To the extent that the Court has not yet ruled on Plaintiff's request for injunctive
7 relief at the time of trial, what injunctive relief plaintiff is entitled to by virtue of Defendants'
8 violation of the Fair Housing Act, Washington Law Against Discrimination, and Seattle
9 Municipal Code?

10 The Defendant will pursue at trial the following defense:

11 1. Plaintiff failed to establish defendant's conduct rises to the level sufficient to 12 support punitive damages.

13
14 C. Admitted Facts

15 The following facts are admitted by the parties as admissible:

16 1. Plaintiff Fair Housing Center of Washington is a non-profit fair housing
17 organization incorporated under the laws of the State of Washington, located in Tacoma,
18 Washington. The FHCW's mission is to identify and eliminate discriminatory housing practices
19 and to ensure equal housing is available to all people, without regard to race, religion, sex,
20 national origin, disability, or familial status. FHCW provides an array of programs and services
21 designed to eliminate housing discrimination through counseling, education, advocacy, research,
22 and enforcement of fair housing laws.

23
24 2. In pursuit of its mission, the FHCW provides fair housing testing services. Since 25 1995, the agency's pool of trained testers has conducted approximately 3,000 rental, sales, and 26 mortgage lending tests in Western and Central Washington. During tests, trained individuals
27 pose as prospective tenants or purchasers to gather information about whether a housing provider

1 is complying with fair housing laws. A pair of testers typically conducts the test: one poses as a
2 member of the protected class, the other represents the control group.

3 3. Breier-Scheetz Properties is incorporated in Washington and does business in the 4 Western District of Washington. Breier-Scheetz Properties has owned and manages multifamily
5 residential properties, and owned and operated the Granada Apartments at 1736 Belmont Avenue
6 in Seattle at all times relevant.
7

8 4. Defendant Frederick Breier-Scheetz is an owner of Breier-Scheetz Properties, is a
9 property manager of The Granada Apartments, and oversees all property managers of Breier-
10 Scheetz Properties.

11 5. The Granada Apartments is a 96-unit apartment building in Seattle, Washington.
12 It contains 60 studio apartments that are at least 400 square feet, plus six larger studios. None of 13 the studios has a designated parking space.
14

15 6. Defendants allow only single persons to rent The Granada's studio apartments.
16 Defendant Frederick Breier-Scheetz developed the restriction over time since the late 1970s.

17 7. At all times relevant to this litigation, Breier-Scheetz Properties and part owner,
18 Defendant Frederick Breier-Scheetz, controlled and directed the actions of their property
19 managers and employees, including Gary and Joanne Huth, and managed and operated the 20 Granada Apartments.

22 8. Breier-Scheetz Properties is a Washington corporation which does business in 23 western Washington. Breier-Scheetz owns and operated the Granada Apartments located at 24 1736 Belmont Avenue in Seattle at all times material to this litigation.

25 9. In 2012 and 2013, FHCW performed pair fair housing tests during which Gary
26 and Joanne Huth stated the Granada Apartments enforced a one-person-per-studio policy.
27

1 10. FHCW filed a complaint dated March 4, 2014, against Defendants with the U.S.
2 Department of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD"). The complaint alleged that the
3 Defendants improperly denied or made housing unavailable based on familial status. Through a
4 work-sharing agreement and the Seattle Office for Civil Rights investigated the complaint.
5

6 11. The Court granted Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment on liability, ruling:
7 "Defendants' one-person-per studio occupancy restriction at the Granada has a disparate impact
8 on families with children in violation of the Fair Housing Act, Washington Law Against 9 Discrimination, and Seattle Municipal Code."

10 12. FHCW charges $700 for fair housing tests. FHCW charges $700 for fair housing
11 training sessions.
12

13 13. FHCW quarterly monitoring of prospective tenant inquiries will require five hours
14 of FHCW staff time at $100 per hour.

15 14. Distributing print and video public service advertisements about fair housing and 16 familial status protection in the Seattle area, via a contractor called the Causeway Agency, costs
17 a total of $4,535.

18 15. FHCW review and revision of occupancy policies requires five hours of FHCW
19 staff time, at $125 per hour.
20

21 D. The Parties' Relevant Facts in Dispute

22 1. The parties disagree about the types and amounts of damages that should be 23 awarded to Plaintiff.
